

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for reducing multiple dominant pilots in a CDMA transmission system comprises linking a transceiver element with a nearby base station for transporting signals between the transceiver element and the nearby base station. Transmitted from the transceiver element forward link signals of a nearby sector associated with the nearby base station. An apparatus is also described.

0990468-112101
T02T* B940656